

Fogarty International Center

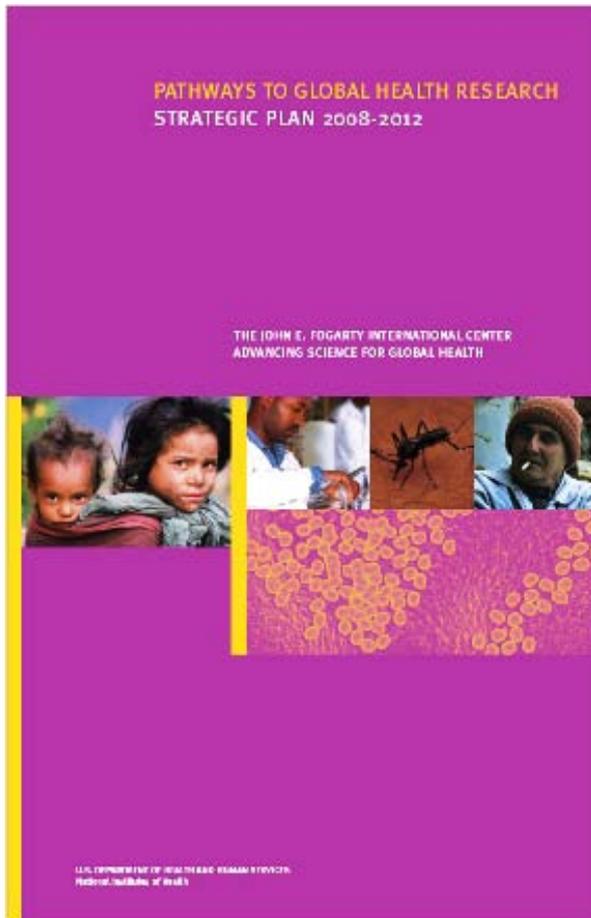

Strategic Planning 2012

Rachel Sturke, PhD, MPH, MIA

Division of International Science Policy, Planning, and Evaluation
Fogarty International Center
US National Institutes of Health

Fogarty International Center Strategic Plan 2008 - 2012

- The shifting burden of disease
- Training in implementation research
- Capacity building
- Sustainable research environment
- Strategic alliances and partnerships

<http://www.fic.nih.gov/About/Pages/Strategic-Plan.aspx>

- What are the most significant recent global health landscape developments relevant to global HIV research and training?
- What should our top priorities in global HIV research and training be over the next 5-10 years?
- Are there specific gaps and/or opportunities within the field of global HIV research and training that we might address in the coming years?
- What should FIC's unique niche/role be in global HIV research and training?
- How can FIC leverage/synergize with investments by other funders in global HIV research and training?